Mid-West Heat Wave Fades Before Showers

HUNDREDS OF VICTIMS GO TO BEACHES

Temperatures Below Mason-Dixon Line, However, Go Higher This Noon

OREGON GETS SNOW

Pacific Coast and Rocky Mountain States Enjoy Normal Weather Today

CHICAGO, June 20.—(UP)—Summer's first onslaught of oppressive heat, which took a high toll of life and drove hundreds of thousands to beaches and parks for relief, was retreating today from north central states before a series of cooling showers.

Temperatures close to normal were reported by the Chicago weather bureau to have been restored in Minnesota and Wisconsin. The heat wave apparently was beginning to break rapidly in Iowa and northern Illinois.

The spreading counter attack of showers was expected to advance well into the Ohio, middle Mississippi and lower Missouri valleys by tomorrow.

Around the Great Lakes veering winds indicated approaching relief, although a sort of showers in and around Chicago last night increased the humidity and made the city's millions uncomfortable in temperatures that lagged only slightly behind those of yesterday.

Instead below the Mason-Dixon line, the heavy heat that has over spread the greater part of the country for nearly 48 hours probably will become more oppressive over the week end, it was predicted.

The only sections of the country to resist supernormal temperatures for the season were the Rocky Mountain and Pacific coast states. Idaho stood out as an exception. On the other hand, from Oregon came a report of a snowstorm near the Delta.

An accounting of deaths attributable either directly or indirectly to the inordinate outburst of heat showed that scores had died.

Heat deaths in Canada, where the mercury went to 109, and in states along the Canadian border in the central west reached 35.

New York and Boston reported a total of 12 deaths.

The broiling sun set in motion wheat harvesting in central Illinois where the grain had been ripened prematurely. Farmers elsewhere greeted the heat wave as a boon to their growing crops.

Chicago's beaches, where 360,000 persons were estimated to have sought relief yesterday, were covered today with even greater throngs as the Saturday half holiday released multitudes from the overheated loop.

COOKS, WAITERS OF FRESNO MAY STRIKE

FRESNO, June 20.—(UP)—A threatened walk-out of Fresno culinary workers was reported impending here today.

Although it is said that members of the Cooks' and Waiters' union have accepted a 10 percent cut in wages, annual contracts assertedly have not been signed.

It was rumored here yesterday that support of outside leaders was being sought in an effort to go through with the strike.

Asa Keyes' Plea For Parole Before Prison Directors

SAN QUENTIN PRISON, Calif., June 20.—(UP)—The parole application of Asa Keyes, former district attorney of Los Angeles convicted of bribery conspiracy, was before the state prison board at its week end meeting today.

The application was scheduled to be considered by the board when it fixed Keyes' term on a one to 14 year sentence. He has served one year in connection with the Julian Oil scandals, making him eligible for freedom.

PRESIDENT HOOVER PLANNING TO AID GERMANY IN CRISIS

U. S. MINISTER TO DENMARK IS REPORTED DEAD

Ralph Harmon Booth, Who Published Detroit Paper, Passes in Austria

VIENNA, June 20.—(UP)—It was reported without confirmation that Ralph Harmon Booth of Michigan, American minister to Denmark, had died at Badgastein, Austria, this afternoon.

Ralph Harmon Booth was born in Toronto, Canada, September 29, 1873. In 1881 the family moved to Detroit and his career began with a position in the Detroit National bank in 1888. In 1892 he went to the Detroit Tribune as cashier and later business manager, shifting in 1895 to the Chicago Journal as secretary and manager, later becoming editor and publisher.

He returned to Detroit to become editor and publisher of the Detroit Tribune and in 1905 he became president and publisher of the Grand Rapids Herald, later becoming president of Booth Newspapers, Inc., including papers in Grand Rapids, Flint, Saginaw, Kalamazoo, Jackson, Ann Arbor and other cities. In 1917-18 he was vice-president of the Associated Press.

Booth was appointed minister to Denmark, January 22, 1930.

REPORT CONFIRMED
DETROIT, June 20.—(UP)—Confirmation of the death at Badgastein, of Ralph H. Booth, Michigan newspaper publisher and American minister to Denmark, was received today.

The dispatch stated Booth died from pneumonia, which followed a heart attack.

NAUTILUS' ENGINES BREAK DOWN AGAIN

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—Engine trouble is again plaguing the submarine Nautilus, in which Sir Hubert Wilkins is attempting to cross the Atlantic on the first leg of a proposed cruise to the North Pole.

The Nautilus was towed part way across by the battleship Wyoming after an earlier siege of motor trouble. Later her bridge and periscope were swept away by high seas. The Wyoming, still standing by the submarine 280 miles from Queenstown, Ireland, reported to camp this noon.

"Nautilus" stopped communicating. Saving batteries. Trouble with fuel oil and air compressor. Starboard engine, port motor and periscope damaged beyond ship repair. Bridge gone. Crew working to start port engine. Sea rough."

Rich Man's Son Wins Freedom by Governor's Pardon

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(UP)—Fayette D. Marble, son of a rich South Pasadena broker, was free from the county jail today, pardoned by Gov. James Rolph Jr. on his manslaughter conviction.

Although Attorney General U. S. Webb had ruled that Governor Rolph could not legally pardon the youth, whose automobile killed three elderly pedestrians last December, on the ground that he was a "three-time loser," Sheriff William I. Trafer liberated the youth late yesterday.

He was acting under instructions of County Counsel Everett W. Mattoon, who held that should the sheriff ignore the governor's pardon and continue to hold Marble in jail, he would be liable for false imprisonment.

MANY STATIONS RETAILING GAS AT OLD PRICES

However, Indications Are That 16 Cents Will Be Uniform Figure

MANY SERVICE stations were still selling gasoline at prices ranging between 7 and 9 1-2 cents a gallon today despite the fact that most of the major and independent oil companies raised their tank wagon price to 13 cents a gallon yesterday, an increase of 5 1-2 cents.

Station owners announced, however, that they probably would advance the retail price to 16 cents a gallon, including three cents state tax, as soon as present supplies were exhausted.

Since the gasoline "war" started February 26 prices dropped steadily from a high of 21 cents to as low as five cents a gallon.

General Petroleum, Shell, Richardson, Union, Associated, Rio Grande and Gilmore advanced yesterday to the 13 cent tank wagon price set by the Standard Oil company two days ago.

$2500 BAIL FOR OLIVE CLARK DAY

SAN DIEGO, June 20.—(UP)—Olive Clark Day, alleged head of the Hollywood "Love Market," is at liberty under $2500 bail today for the first time since the San Diego charges were filed against her, Alexander Panjane, Jesse Shreve and William Jobelmann several months ago.

The bail for Mrs. Day was reduced from $15,000 by Judge L. L. Turrentine following failure of the "Love Market" jury to agree. Jobelmann, whose bail was also reduced, has not yet been freed.

The case will be retried July 13.

Application For Rail Rate Boost Set For Hearing

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—The Interstate Commerce commission today ordered the application of the railroads for a 15 percent freight rate increase be set for hearing in 15 days whether the authority sought is to apply to all existing rates or whether some exceptions are to be made.

BATTLE FLEET DROPS ANCHOR IN FRISCO BAY

Peace Time Maneuver Climaxes Summer Practice Cruise Today

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—(UP)—Thirty-six gray steel fighting ships, the battle fleet of the American navy, "took" San Francisco today when they steamed through the Golden Gate in a peace time maneuver to climax the summer practice cruise.

The dreadnaught California, flagship of the fleet, led the parade with the four-starred flag of Admiral Frank H. Schofield at the masthead. She dropped anchor beside the battleship Texas, already in the harbor with Admiral J. V. Chase, commander of the United States fleet, aboard.

Behind the California came the dreadnaughts Tennessee, Colorado, West Virginia, Idaho, New York and Nevada, followed by a host of destroyers, submarines, the supply ship Arctic and the cruiser Detroit.

Rear Admiral W. C. Cole, commandant of the 125th naval district here, headed a welcoming committee of naval and civil authorities aboard the California. Shortly afterward 10,000 blue-jackets were given leave until Monday morning, and the downtown streets soon were filled with uniformed men.

With the exception of the Nevada, which goes to Monterey Monday, the ships were to stay here 10 days before proceeding northward to Puget Sound. The fleet will return here in August.

CANADIAN CROSSES CHANNEL IN GLIDER

CALAIS, France, June 20.—(UP)—A Canadian, Lieutenant Beardmore, held the distinction today of being the first person to cross the English channel in a motorless glider.

Beardmore landed yesterday at Saint Inglevert aerodrome near here. He undertook the flight because, he said, he wanted a British subject to be the first to cross the channel in a glider.

Beardmore departed from Lymington aerodrome near London at 4:20 p. m. and landed at 6 p. m. In starting, the glider was towed by an airplane to an altitude of 3000 feet and cut loose. It continued an air glide, gradually losing altitude as it crossed the channel. The landing was made without difficulty.

Expects To Reveal Plan Within Week

Will Remain in Washington Over Weekend to Meet Party Leaders

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—President Hoover probably will issue a statement next week explaining in detail his plan to assist Germany and revive international trade it was revealed at the White House today.

Mr. Hoover resumed consideration of reparations and war debt problems today in conference with Under-secretary of the Treasury Mills, and, separately, with other officials and representatives of both parties.

The president will remain in Washington over the week-end to continue his conferences with party leaders and advisers. The White House announcement today was through a spokesman for the president. He insisted any comment or observation pending next week's statement must be considered as speculation and "more than likely wrong."

Mills called at the White House after Mr. Hoover had examined press reports of his announcement of yesterday.

Under-secretary of State Castle called at the White House and Mr. Hoover received Senator Ashurst, Democrat, Arizona, and Representative Treadway, Republican, Massachusetts in the executive offices.

Callers were pledged to secrecy. Representative Tilton, Republican, Connecticut, a candidate for the speakership in the next congress, left the White House today with his family. He had been a White House guest for two days during the time he discussed the move Mr. Hoover has in mind.

Speculation regarding Mr. Hoover's plan centers around reduction of British debt payments to the United States with the understanding the saving would be passed on to Germany by reducing reparations payments by Germany to Great Britain.

President Seeks Opinion On Debts Of Foreign Lands

WASHINGTON, June 20.—(UP)—President Hoover is engaged today in canvassing congressional opinion for support of a possible one or two year moratorium in war debt payments.

In foregoing war debt receipts for such a period, the United States would obtain general agreement among all nations receiving German reparations that payments would be proportionately curtailed.

The United Press was informed there would be a statement soon outlining Mr. Hoover's debt and reparations program. The statement might be made today.

WILL ROGERS says:

BEVERLY HILLS, June 20.—[To the Editor of The Register:] Poor Mr. Hoover, if things ever do turn and start breaking right for him he will be a good man to string with, for he ought to have a long streak of luck.

Of all the things that's gone against him the worst happened this week. His speech run fifteen minutes overtime, and he took up Amos 'n' Andy's time on the radio.

That was a vote loser, sure enough. That did him more harm than even the Wickersham report. I never saw radio fans so worked up. That will be a lesson to all Presidents.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

1220 OF 1316 BILLS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Veto Message for Each of 76 Measures Vetoed Also Is Issued

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—(UP)—Gov. James Rolph Jr. today had carved a new niche for himself in California history as a maker of laws.

Shortly after midnight last night he announced to the crowd in the cabinet chamber of his executive offices that he had signed 1220 of the 1316 bills enacted by the last legislature.

A broad smile lighted up his face when someone told him he had shattered all records by approving 93 per cent of all the measures passed. The average for the last 25 years has been 72 per cent.

"Well, I hope everybody's satisfied," he said. "Let's shake hands all around."

This morning, bright and early, he hopped aboard an airplane at

SECOND VICTIM OF ACCIDENT PASSES

BAKERSFIELD, June 20.—(UP)—The second victim of an automobile accident which occurred on the Golden State highway south of Bakersfield was dead today. He is David Peck, 32, Montebello dairy worker.

The first victim was Samuel S. Wilhelm, Whittier, driver of the car and for more than 36 hours after the crash believed by authorities to have been David H. Wolf. Identification was established through a brother in Long Beach.

The accident is believed to have occurred when Wilhelm fell asleep and struck a tree.

Fresno Theaters Expected to Close In Wage Dispute

FRESNO, June 20.—(UP)—The zero hour in a wage dispute between managers of five local theaters and the Fresno Motion Picture Operators' union will be reached tonight when, reports say, one of Fresno's three largest theaters will close if agreement is not reached.

Possibilities that the new Fresno theater, which is to open Wednesday under the management of Gerald Hardy, veteran bay district theater man, will go non-union, were rumored.

With a wage scale of $73 per week, a five-man crew as required by the union costs the smaller Fresno theaters approximately $300 per week. They maintain that such an expenditure is unnecessary and seek to cut their staff to two.

PERSECUTION IS CHARGED BY PONTIFF

Tells 700 Followers That Mussolini Now Spying and Stool Pigeoning

DELAYS NEGOTIATIONS

Declares Messages of Consolation Received By Him From All Nations

VATICAN CITY, June 20.—(UP)—The Pope, addressing 700 members of the Propaganda of the Faith congregation today denounced the Italian government for maintaining "the most hateful watching, odious spying and stool pigeoning and continuous menace" over the Azores, Catholic, Catholic laymen's organization which has recently been

"No records are in sight," the Pope said, "nor has it been possible to start negotiations."

"Not only has normalcy not returned, but they (the Fascists) have done everything towards maintaining a menacing horizon. They even went so far as to say that our youth, which they want to dishonor, cannot even silently reorganize."

"Nine thousand party branches have been instructed in the task of preventing such reorganization and seeing that things run in the manner that they desire. Therefore the bishops report to us that life remains perturbed."

The Pope went on to denounce the government for its alleged spying and menace toward Azores Catholics.

"Everything may be summarized in these words," the Pope continued. "It is not only in Mexico, not only in what is called 'Bolshievik land,' that the church is persecuted. It is a persecution which they do not call persecution against the church or the Pope, perhaps because it is aimed against what constitutes the Pope's very heart and the pupil of his eye."

Messages of consolation from all over the world, said the Pope, have proved a solidarity never experienced heretofore.

"The whole Catholic world," he said, "and not only the Catholic world but a portion of the other world, is with the Pope and behind the Pope."

L. A. DETECTIVE IS HELD FOR MURDER

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(UP)—Edward J. Nolan, detective lieutenant accused of beating his sweetheart to death in a fit of drunken anger when he found her dancing with another man, was charged with murder in a complaint issued by Deputy District Attorney H. J. Scott today.

The complaint was sworn to by Capt. Frank Condit, head of the police homicide squad, who arrested his fellow officer, in a downtown hotel where Nolan assertedly murdered Mrs. Grace Murphy Duncan.

Municipal Judge William S. Baird, before whom the complaint was taken, ordered Nolan held without bail in the city jail until Monday morning, when the officer will be arraigned before him.

Dallas Minister Confesses Story Of Lynching Hoax

DALLAS, Tex., June 20.—(UP)—The story of how four men attempted to lynch a 30-year-old minister by hanging him from a chandelier directly over the pulpit where he stood each Sunday morning to preach his gospel was a hoax, the preacher confessed today.

The Rev. H. P. Brown, supply pastor at the North Dallas Baptist church, hanged himself in the pulpit and then concocted the lynching story, he admitted. Mental disorders, brought on when he was eluded in the head early this year at Midland, were blamed for his action.

DENY FAVORING AID FOR UPPER RIVER PROJECT

Publication in a San Bernardino newspaper of a statement from Francis Cuttle, of Riverside, president of the Water Conservation association, to the effect that he had received most encouraging reaction from the boards of supervisors of Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino to the proposal that the three counties match the appropriation of $400,000 made by the state for flood control work on the Santa Ana river, today brought denial from members of the Orange county board of supervisors that they favored financial support of the proposed work on the upper Santa Ana.

In the San Bernardino story it was stated that Cuttle had interviewed the supervisors of the three counties and that he was endeavoring to ascertain public sentiment as to whether the three counties should make appropriations to match the sum voted by the state under a bill introduced by Senator Ralph Swing of San Bernardino county. The money made available by the state must be matched before it can be used, Cuttle declared that reaction of the boards had been "most encouraging."

Chairman John Mitchell, of Garden Grove, when asked concerning the attitude of the board of supervisors of Orange county on an appropriation for this work said that the board had not had the proposition before it, but felt that if it was presented the board would not favor expenditure of county funds for this work. "The proposed work on the upper stretches of the river will not be of benefit to Orange county," he said. "The more they hold up there, the worse off we are. When the bill was introduced we did not like the way it was worded and had it changed so it would not affect us."

Willard Smith, former chairman, and member of the water committee of the board, said he personally did not believe the board would make any appropriation for that work. Charles Chapman, of Santa Ana, declared the board had not discussed the matter since the bill was passed and that personally he did not favor any expenditure of Orange county funds for such work unless the work was done in Orange county. William Schumacher, third district representative on the board, asserted emphatically that he was not for an Orange county appropriation to the work proposed.

Cuttle's plan provided that San Bernardino and Riverside counties should each appropriate 40 per cent of the amount to match the state appropriation, and the balance of 20 per cent would be Orange county's share. The San Bernardino board of supervisors has approved of such a program, his statement said. He proposed that for the first year San Bernardino and Riverside counties should raise $40,000 each by taxation, and Orange county, $20,000. A rate of one and one-half cents in Orange county "on territory dependent on the Santa Ana river" would raise the amount which it was proposed should be contributed toward the tri-counties conservation work, according to Cuttle's figures.

Calvin Coolidge Says . . . . .

By CALVIN COOLIDGE

NORTHAMPTON, Mass., June 20.—As the income and earning power of the people decline, due to depression, governmental debts and expenses become a real problem. We have been going through an era where nearly all the public debts except those of the national government have been increasing. The expectation was that the general expansion of business would make it easy to pay them. Now the opposite condition prevails.

By retiring and refunding its debt the national government is saving nearly half a billion dollars annually in interest. The only other course would have been more extravagant spending or reduction of taxes. Either one of these would have aggravated the present serious situation of the treasury.

When money is borrowed by a government or an individual to pay current expenses it means living on capital. If carried far enough disaster results. When debts are paid it means capital is restored. If carried far enough prosperity and plenty follow. Some of our municipalities borrowed too much in the day of plenty and are not able to meet their obligations. The national government economized some though not enough in the day of plenty and is now able to get credit to take care of the day of adversity.

Last night between 8 and 9 o'clock, when the announcement was made that Santa Ana will be the scene of the first public appearance of the Optimistic Doughnuts, a Negro minstrel group which has gained great popularity during the past four years as radio entertainers.

Special guests of the broadcast included Mayor John Knox, Councilman E. G. Warner, Chief of Police Floyd Howard, George Kellogg, commander of the drum corps, William Iverson, business manager of the organization, and Legionnaires Bob Walker and E. S. Sullivan.

The Doughnuts will make their first public appearance at the Santa Ana High school auditorium on June 25 in a benefit show from which proceeds will go to a fund for purchase of new uniforms for the drum corps. It will be the first time in four years that this group has put on a program outside the radio studio.

Their numbers include typical Negro shuffles, cake walks and other dance numbers and Negro spirituals and southern melodies.

DAM CONSTRUCTION SHOWN AT THEATER

Actual construction work on Boulder Dam will be shown on the screen here for the first time Sunday at the Fox Broadway theater in connection with the regular program.

The presentation, Metropolitan Aqueduct News Number 1, pictorially reveals the realization of a decade's planning for the giant dam and the great Colorado river aqueduct.

Blasting operations, steam shovels, and pneumatic drills are all shown on the river bank, where government crews are now working on the greatest dam in the world.

Boulder dam, although not actually connected with the 244-mile Metropolitan conduit, is vitally important to it, since 30,500,000 acre feet of water will be stored behind the dam and part of that water will be brought to Southern California by means of the aqueduct.

Airways To Stage Series Of Stunts

Thrills will be offered at the Santa Ana Airways tomorrow afternoon in conjunction with an exhibition of an L-R-3 glider. Visitors at the first street airport will be permitted to inspect the machine.

Art Anderson, stunt flyer, will fly over the airport and thrill the spectators with a series of loops, tailspins and dives. A free-fall parachute jump, scheduled at 4:30 p. m., will climax the afternoon's entertainment.

PASTOR WHO AIDED ROLPH BY WORKING AGAINST YOUNG IS MADE CHAPLAIN AT WHITTIER

Here is the seventh of the series of articles on the Rolph spoils system in California and which is being printed daily in the Los Angeles Record and reproduced in The Register—(Editor).

A chaplain is a spiritual adviser. He is supposed to receive his inspiration from higher sources than the ordinary campaign headquarters.

But California politics is exacting. A chaplain who shunted votes away from former Governor C. C. Young is a bigger asset than one whose main concern has been the welfare of unfortunate youth at the Whittier state school.

And so it came about that Rev. Milton C. Lutz was appointed by Superintendent Claude S. Smith as spiritual adviser at Whittier to succeed Rev. Ernest A. Osborn. Shortly after Smith took over control at Whittier a friend of Chaplain Osborn was told by Smith that no change in the chaplain's post was contemplated.

Returned To Work
Relieved, the elderly preacher went back to the "Scout" work in which he was so popular with the boys.

A few days later, however, according to the citizens' committee which is fighting "spoils politics," the Rev. Mr. Lutz descended upon Superintendent Smith with petitions for the chaplain's job signed by 156 citizens.

Supported Fitts

In his genial manner the former sheriff of Jasper county, Texas, said that after the Rev. Mr. Lutz was appointed it was found he had been a campaign manager for Burton Fitts, one of Governor Rolph's two opponents.

Here are two more minor changes effected by Smith, showing how the "system" works:

Mrs. Battersby, wife of Louis Battersby, the physical director, who had charge of the tailor shop at Whittier, was let out and her place was appointed a woman who had been housekeeper for Superintendent Smith's wife.

Cliff Grimes, who had been head chef at the Whittier school for years, was discharged and in his place was appointed a man who ran the "lunch wagon" for the tent shows given by Smith when he was in the real estate business.

REALTORS HEAR 1220 OF 1316 BATES TALK ON WATER SAVING BILLS SIGNED BY GOVERNOR

Conservation of water, control and disposal of sewage, and the Metropolitan water district were discussed yesterday at the meeting of Santa Ana Realty board, by George Bates, engineer.

Bates told the realtors that as an organization their assistance was necessary to any movement to solve the water problems of this city and county. The last flood control measure placed before the voters was defeated, he said, because it was accorded only a partial support by the people of this city.

Speaking of this defeated measure Bates said that James Irvine Jr., did not publicize the same reasons for opposing the project that he gave at the first meeting of the campaign committee. The reasons that he gave the committee for opposing the plan were that he was building his own dam in Santiago canyon; he did not need flood protection, and he was not interested in filling the Santa Ana river basin as he was pumping from another strata, Bates said.

For those same reasons, according to Bates, Irvine cannot be in favor of the upper site at Prado. Sewage, the realtors were told, is a big item of waste. Properly treated, he said, the water running into the sewers would be sufficient to irrigate 5000 acres of land.

Criticism of the joint outfall sewer project was injected into the talk when Bates said that Santa Ana made a big mistake in joining in that project. The money spent on that project, he said, would be more than enough to pay the cost of constructing a treatment plant. He estimated the cost of such a plant at approximately $500,000. The last bond issue required for extension of the outfall into the ocean, he claimed, would have paid a large portion of the cost of such plant.

Brea was cited as the only city in the county actually treating its sewage and using the water for irrigation purposes. Treatment process in that community costs less than the amount paid by either La Habra or Placentia as their share of the outfall sewer project and the water is used by the Union Oil company in irrigating acreage near the city, Bates declared.

The value of reclaiming sewage water for irrigation purposes was indicated by Bates when he said that from 40 to 60 per cent of all the water used in a city reaches the sewer and should be reclaimed for irrigation purposes.

Other sources of water were mentioned by the speaker were the gun clubs and various drainage systems. Citing one example he said that the Garden Grove drainage district water was clear enough to be used for irrigation purposes with but little trouble.

He referred to the proposed Metropolitan water district in passing by saying that the community probably wanted the water but questioned whether or not the city could pay the price. He said that Santa Ana's portion of the first bond issue under this plan would be $2,500,000.

The Farm Bureau was accorded high praise for its work of educating the ranchers in the proper use of water to eliminate waste. Five years ago, according to the speaker, the average annual water requirement of the citrus grower was two acre feet. This, he declared was more than necessary. Through educational work of the bureau the annual water requirement of the individual rancher has been cut to 1.6 acre feet.

Disposal of rain water was explained by the speaker, who said that a very small per cent of it ever reached the pumping strata. To reach this strata the water must reach the Santa Ana river above the Olive-Anaheim bridge. The water that does not reach that point goes into the drainage strata. Irrigation water, he said, goes into the upper strata and is never pumped.

VETERANS CHANGE PLANS FOR DINNER

Calumppit Camp and Auxiliary recently announced their pot-luck dinner on June 23 was to be a steak bake at Irvine park but their plans have been changed and the dinner is to take place in the Knights of Columbus hall, in Santa Ana, which is the meeting place of the Spanish War people of the southern part of Orange county. They plan to have a program following the dinner and their famous drill team, which has won the first prizes at the department encampment for six successive years, will put on an exhibition drill. The team is not practicing a new drill for next year under the direction of its new captain, Beas Moberly.

Calumppit Camp finishes this semi-annual term with 178 members, which is a net gain of one, it having gained 9 and lost 8 during this term.

More than 75 boys who are members of the 4-H clubs in the county will leave tomorrow morning for the annual summer camp session to be held at Camp Radford. It was announced today by Eric Eastman, assistant farm advisor. The regular camping session will begin Sunday morning and will end Wednesday night. All club members, their parents, leader and leader's families are eligible to attend the camp, Eastman announced.

Scientists and experts on nature study will be present, including Woodridge Metcalf, extension forester of the University of California. Stunts, games and competitive events will feature the program planned for the boys. Prizes will be awarded winners of various events.

This session of the camping program is being held under the joint auspices of the Orange and Los Angeles farm advisor's offices.

PHIL D. SWING MAY SEEK POST OF SHORTRIDGE

Orange county heard its first rumble of political big guns yesterday when the word came that Congressman Phil D. Swing, of San Diego, is seriously considering throwing his hat in the ring for the 1932 election as an opponent of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge, seeking election as United States senator from California.

Political believe that if Swing does decide to become a candidate for the senatorial post the race between him and Shortridge will be eclipsed only by the presidential campaign in this state.

Swing's admission that he is "looking the situation over" was deemed extremely significant by political observers who pointed out that the Senator Hiram W. Johnson forces may be expected to line up in support of the San Diegoan in the event he does throw his hat into the ring.

The San Diegoan said, "I will admit that I am looking the situation over. It appears that there are many who feel there should be a change, and that one of California's representatives in the United States senate should be from the Southland." Senator Johnson resides at San Francisco and Senator Shortridge's home is at Menlo Park, also in the northern bay region.

MARKET OWNERSHIP CHANGE ANNOUNCED

Announcement was made today that Frank Seidel, of the Seidel Meat Market on West Fourth street, had purchased the interests of his brother Henry (Hank) Seidel, effective as of June 1.

Henry Seidel has been sick for a number of months and has not been actively engaged in his business. It is understood that he contemplates a long rest and probably will leave soon on an extended trip abroad.

There will be no change in management of the market, according to Frank Seidel, and the same policy that has been followed since the establishment of Seidel's Market will be maintained in the future.

School District Obtains Property

Property near the Lowell school, owned by William C. Heaton, which the Santa Ana school district has been seeking for some time, was obtained yesterday as a result of court action. Judgment of condemnation of the house and lot, which is part of a parcel the school is taking over to enlarge the school playground, was granted by Judge H. G. Ames after a hearing in the matter. The price was fixed by the court at $3500 after testimony from an appraisal committee. The school district offered the owner $4000 two months ago on recommendation of an appraisal committee. It was stated today by Business Manager George Newcom, which the owner refused as he was holding out for a price of $5000.

CANADIAN LIQUOR PROPAGANDA UNDER GOVERNMENT SALE PLAN IS CAUSE OF SOCIAL SUFFERING

Perhaps the greatest gathering of women prohibition workers ever held was the recent World convention of the W. C. T. U. at Toronto, Canada. Orange county was represented among delegates from all parts of the world. Mrs. Pearl Kendall Hess, of Orange, who represented this county, has written a local worker an account of the sessions.

Included in the account was a comprehensive review of the Youth's Pageant, the outstanding event of the convention. The Register herewith presents the third of three daily articles outlining the pageant.

Saskatchewan
Saskatchewan was the fifth province to fall.

Our breweries, which had dwindled to one under restriction, have grown to 10 under control or government sale.

The largest illicit stills ever found in Saskatchewan have been operating during the government sale system, as is true in other provinces that have government sale.

To supply our 887,000 people with intoxicating liquors we have 29 government cash and carry stores. A daily purchase of one quart whiskey can be obtained on a $2.00 yearly permit. No permits are needed for a daily purchase of two gallons beer and one gallon wine. But if this is not enough to satisfy a customer, then by paying a fee of $2 he has permission to buy 10 gallons beer, 10 gallons wine and two gallons whiskey.

Added to the government liquor shops we also have 182 (March 30) privately owned beer shops where you may buy your two gallons of beer without permit, or on permit 10 gallons.

Our province has suffered grievously, both morally and socially, from the druging of its conscience by liquor paid propaganda.

One of the most serious factors in the present situation is that the earnings of Canadian people are gathered through the liquor traffic into the hands of men who use it to poison the wells of information and to dull the Canadian conscience on the subject of temperance.

Saskatchewan sales for less than five years have risen from nearly $6,000,000 to over 12,000,000. A total of $6,225,000.

Ontario
In June, 1927, Ontario initiated her special system of government control and if government control would work anywhere it ought to be working in Ontario, but, strange to say, instead of closing up distilleries, breweries and wineries, cutting out home brew and eliminating bootleggers, etc., the control system of our province has tremendously increased the manufacturing, sale and consequent results.

Our original distilleries well-comed the system they worked so hard to obtain and in December, 1928, a Toronto stock broker reported that one distiller's stock was up 147 per cent and in July, 1930, a news item reported "quite substantial earnings." Is it any wonder that their broadcasting station is called Cheerio? Another one of the original five now advertises itself as the "Largest Distillery in the world." We have now licensed 11 to operate.

Ontario spends on spirits, such as whiskey, etc., an amount equal to the value of all gold and silver produced in the dominion (1930, $53,000,000).

Wine is a mocker. Ontario stands alone in wine manufacturing. We now have 52 wineries. Thousands of farmers have been enticed into the business.

Even beekeepers have been invited to enter their honey in the scheme. Nor have we forgotten the beer and the farmers who now grow the barley for the beer that the government sells. Ontario has become the booze manufacturing and distributing center in the land.

We have 11 distilleries, 52 wineries, 31 breweries, 105 brewing agencies, 122 government liquor stores where all kinds can be obtained—a total of 327 selling places. Permission to buy may be obtained on a $2.00 yearly permit which limits your daily purchases to 12 quarts spirits, 120 quart bottles beer and 12 quarts wine.

Government control in Ontario has tremendously increased our social and economic problems.

In less than four years our liquor bill has reached a total of $195,869,810, nearly 196 millions. (5 months, $32,000,000; second year, $50,000,000; third year, $53,000,000; fourth year, nearly $55,000,000.) What will our future be?

New Brunswick
In September, 1927, New Brunswick also fell for government rum shop revenue and the fearful so-called control system that increases drinking, misery and poverty in the homes of the land.

We now have 87 distributing points for our 419,000 people. More than Alberta and Saskatchewan, with their larger populations, and last year we lost $4,511,000 from the regular avenues of business.

No permits are required. A further so-called temperance plan in the sale of beer and wine in hotels like some of the other liquor controlled provinces is being agitated.

We have a distillery. What is our future to be when our government legalizes and encourages the young homemakers to buy and drink?

Hard times! Our total liquor bill in three years has amounted to nearly $13,000,000.

Nova Scotia
Nova Scotia became the last victim of the paralyzing influence of government control and its revenue. Twenty-seven government rum, whiskey, beer and wine shops, all varieties, have been opened in the best locations for trade.

The government report states other "stores will be opened as rapidly as possible."

No permits required for wine and

Nick come home they take him to jail. They tell him pay big money or go jail six months. My Nick not much money like rich bootlegger, no can pay fine, so they send him jail six months. Oh what I do now? Who help me?

I am an alien here and yet I think as other people do, I love as others everywhere. And long for friends who understand.

Far from home, alone and strange, Behind a wall of language new, And customs strange to me, Is there no little open gate Where I may enter in.

To laugh and play with you, To work and learn and strive with you, To add my gifts to yours, And help you build A better world and larger life?

Do we need to say anything more? Canada warns, Canada implores you not to be fooled. Government control does not control liquor.

Find out for yourselves. You cannot mistake the brilliant sign of the six Toronto breweries.

Look over the distillery that has operated for 99 years. Locate the wineries. Take home a government liquor store price list as a souvenir. You will find a brewery wholesale and retail warehouse near each government store.

Go to any of our city missions, our social welfare depot, the infants' home. They will tell.

Find out the jail and penitentiary records and their relation to alcohol. Canada has failed in eight different ways.

Patriotic Roll
But there's courage and deep conviction in our land and with God's help we shall yet triumph.

Prince Edward Island, our smallest province, cradled in the St. Lawrence gulf, is leading the way and brings the glad note of cheer.

Prince Edward Island
Thirty years ago (1901) Prince Edward Island, the smallest of the Canadian provinces, put up the banner of prohibition. Twenty years later the enforcement of this act was helped by the Dominion Act of 1921, prohibiting importation of liquor into prohibition provinces.

This made prohibition complete. We have watched the oncoming liquor forces in their terrible onslaught in Canada. We were able to withstand two attacks when others failed and in 1927 and 1929 votes prohibition was sustained.

Prohibition has been a great boon. The numerous social gatherings in private homes or in public halls are largely free from the use of such refreshments as cause an aftermath of remorse, sickness and sin.

There is an air of prosperity and pride evident on the outside of our homes, our farms, our churches and school houses.

A Toronto Telegram article of 1930 giving an outsider's findings says, "There has been but one voice in the history of the island. 'Crime as indicated by convictions for serious offenses is less than one-tenth the rate for Canada as a whole.'"

"There has been no execution for 40 years."

"Unemployment—there isn't any on the island."

"Poverty is non-existent."

"The island has per square mile, twice as many people, four times as many cattle and eight times as much poultry as any other province in Canada."

"It has more railroads per square mile, more post offices, more telephone wires, more churches and its people have more money in the savings bank per capita than has any other Canadian province."

"With a population of 88,000 inhabitants, there are no highway-men, no thugs and bandits, no commercialized vice.

"No penitentiary, and a police force of only 13 men."

Altogether the island appreciates prohibition too highly to change it for government control and from here westward we are prepared to help our greater sisters in Canada.

In the coat of arms of Canada you will find the keynote of the days to come. Psa. 72:8 And under that banner our young people have started a new crusade. Their pledges we now present to the world.

I pledge allegiance to my flag, my country and my God. 'Tis your flag and my flag. It proudly floats today, O'er your land and my land,

And half the world, away. All hail proud flag, our own flag. Flag of the brave and free. There's no flag like our flag. Afloat o'er land or sea."

We believe it to be a patriotic duty to uphold the ideals of the founders of our country—to honor our king, respect the flag, reverse the Sabbath, maintain British justice, love our country, obey her laws; and

We believe that the call of the hour is to youth to enter the lists against that great enemy of the race—alcohol. We therefore affirm our intention to abstain from, personally, and to refuse to purchase for others, all alcoholic liquors as a beverage; and that, as a patriot, we will enroll for service under the banner of the new crusade.

ENERGY

On the mark...
Get Set...
GO!!!

Are you ready for a season of fun? You will be if you eat the foods that build vitality.

BUTTERMILK was made for hot weather; and for you. Energy that doesn't heat you up. Rich in almost all the food elements you need for vitality; buttermilk is, in addition, a tonic that keeps you in better shape to "carry on" in summer weather. RAITT'S OLD STYLE CHURNED BUTTERMILK is buttermilk at its best, with an extra touch of taste that will make you like buttermilk better than ever before.

It is teeming with rich, yellow nuggets of butter, roll them delightfully on your tongue—enjoy the "real" buttermilk flavor.

Open up a "Reserve Account"

What would you think about a "Reserve Account" in the Farmers and Merchants?—a little account built up "on the side" to help take care of any sudden emergency?

Many people are often faced with an immediate necessity, or an opportunity to buy profitably, and without some ready cash in reserve, get into involved financial transactions.

Our suggestion is that you deposit, say, $25.00 a month into an account at the Farmers and Merchants which you will call your "Reserve Account." Let it grow—with 4% interest—then, some of these days you'll have a few hundred on tap.

Banks are compelled to have large reserve—to keep them sound financially—why isn't the same thing good for individuals?

COME TO CHURCH

The Church is the Meeting Place of God and His People

A SERMONETTE

BY REV. O. W. REINIUS

Minister Richland Avenue M. E. Church, Richland Avenue, Corner of Parton

"He Is The Way"

HE IS THE WAY

"I am the way, the truth, and the life"

Since these words were spoken many generations of men have lived and wrought and passed away. Poor players all, they strutted and fretted their hours upon the stage and then were seen no more. The things they were busy about, and deemed, it may be, of lasting importance, are forgotten now along with them. Yet we, in this far off land and age, read these words and think of them, not as coming out of the past with but a remote relation to our day, but as words having a luring aptness for our day and offering a solution for the deepest problems of living.

More wonderful still is the fact that we do not think of Him as a mere figure in history, but a living Christ who is the personal concern of every one of us. It is not merely that there is something in the example of Jesus or in His teaching that holds our attention, but that He Himself is with us, seeking to make us live our lives God-illuminated. For the life of Jesus is continuous with all history, and if we ask how we know that it is so today, the answer is because He haunts us, because we feel Him, know Him, and have fellowship with Him. And when we ask for the word that has the creative force of faith and the deep power of joy that our day needs it is to His word that we turn.

With any analysis of the day that word must be said, that we need a new synthesis of insight and experience, a renewal of the spiritual forces of civilization if we are not to come upon "sad, obscure, and anarchic days."

Slowly it is dawning upon us that the world of men can be, and ought to be, a community, in which democracy and religion are two aspects of one and the same life. It is a commonplace to say that if we are to realize what is so patently necessary it can only be by a rediscovery of Him so that we may think in terms of humanity. It is He and only He, that can help the world find its soul.

First—as to our thoughts of Christ. For years past, in response to a deep sense of need, a more comprehensive and satisfying thought of Jesus has been taking form. It has been enriched of late by the new study of Jesus of history, by the more vivid social passion of our day, and by the revival of a new mysticism free from the perils of the old. Today we may say that our thought of Jesus is not orthodox or unitarian, neither liberal nor evangelical, it is these and more. Slowly we are coming to a conception, a vision, an experience of Christ in which all the partial ideas of the past are fused into a larger whole.

The harmony has not always been kept between history and experience, but it is better adjusted than ever before. Time is teaching us that the reality of Christ is too large, too rich for any one mind, for any one sect, and that we must follow Him through fellowship.

Second—as to obeying Christ, the necessity is as vivid as it is difficult. If we admit that Christian ethics cannot all at once be a fulfillment of the ideal, it can be and must be, an honest, earnest, tireless effort to adjust human life, in all its relations to the ideal of Jesus.

For never was it more clearly seen that the laws of Jesus are like the great laws of nature, and that there can be no peace, no security, no happiness until they are applied to personal life, to industry, to education, to the church, and to the larger relation of nation to nation. This is plain, apart from Christ there is no hope at all that the dreams of those who are struggling for a better social order, for justice, for righteousness, sympathy and beauty will be fulfilled. He is the way.

Summer Sports and Your Beauty

I. What Golf Does to Your Figure

By CHARLOTTE C. WEST, M. D.

THE girl of today is not satisfied with the feeble games to which she was relegated in former years. She is definitely committed to sports for all there is in it to her by way of amusement, enjoyment, social contacts, health and a more beautiful development.

Golf makes its appeal as a delightful form of physical and mental recreation and as a general beautifier to the novice or recruit in sports because there are no stipulated requirements. Anyone capable of walking can engage in golf. One of the advantageous features of the game is that one can play mildly, using little effort, or one can be as strenuous and as vigorous as one's strength permits.

Golf is a marvelous sport for those of sedentary habits. After being confined to the desk, the office, or any occupation which keeps one indoors for hours at a stretch, one is imbued with new life, new energy on being transplanted to the green, there to enter into the many-sided activities required by this game.

For golf embraces several forms of exercise in one: the various postures of the body assumed in playing the game; walking, and enforced breathing.

As a panacea for indigestion and constipation this particular form of sport has no equal. Indigestion was until recent years regarded as a national affliction, but I have no doubt it will be largely eliminated through universal golfing, which brings into play the digestive organs, and exercises especially the diaphragm, that powerful muscle of respiration.

FORMERLY physicians sent their nervous patients in a sanatoria for the rest cure, or, this not being possible, advised massage and passive exercise at home. Today such patients are sent to the links, golf being recognized as the remedy par excellence for the overwrought victims of nervous conditions.

And it is plain to be seen why golf is so beneficial a health measure. Beginners forget themselves in the necessary concentration on the ball. Meanwhile, raising and lowering the body from the hips, turning and twisting for the drive, all tend to stabilize the nerves; the tiring of the muscles with the oxygenation of the blood induces profound sleep and the nervous system is gradually regenerated.

The aeration of the blood and the general purification of the entire system improve the complexion. A natural glow is imparted to the skin, the eyes become clear and bright and the use of cosmetics is found to be superfluous. Indeed, the girl who is devoting more time to outdoor recreation finds to her great joy that she has little need for the hitherto ubiquitous powder-puff and lipstick.

Nobody is 100 per cent physically fit; but to those who are decidedly below par, and to those past middle life, a word of warning must be said on undertaking golf.

At first do not attempt to play the game. Simply walk in the fresh air, handling the clubs to get the "feel" of them.

Practice putting a little and rest. Do this consistently at every opportunity, gradually increasing your efforts.

EVEN though walking on the green is done in leisurely fashion, the constant breathing of fresh air together with the postures assumed in golfing bring into play all the great trunk organs, so strengthening the involuntary muscles as well as the voluntary; and herein lies the secret of golf as a health and beauty measure.

Golf is a wonderful game as a form of physical culture for overcoming localized imperfections.

The turning and twisting called for in driving reduce the waist and hips, while the same action develops the shoulders and arms. Indeed, strenuous women golfers are very apt to overdevelop the shoulders and upper arms.

Any game which is fun increases its health value. A sport which is endured, rather than enjoyed, fails in its mission. Golf owes much of its success to the fact that it has a habit of taking such a hold on the people who play it that they become more interested in going around in par than in how many pounds they have lost or gained.

And Here's a Brand New Idea

Eating Around America

The Best Menus and Recipes

GAYNOR MADDOX, who begins here a new series of recipes for the nation's most famous dishes under the title, "Eating Around America," has been a well-known writer on food and how to prepare it for years. Subscribers to such magazines as Woman's Home Companion, Pictorial Review and Country Home have rejoiced in his recipes.

He was born in California but was raised in New York, where his father, a newspaper man, taught him first hand at an early age the relative merits of the best restaurants. As a part of this education, the boy used to be given money and told to take his mother to luncheon at Sherry's or Rector's and order a proper meal.

While studying at the University of California, he did research of his own in San Francisco's famous restaurants. After the war period, which he spent in the navy, he went to Harvard, and after finishing his course there traveled all around the world, taking notes on the best recipes in each country he visited.

Consequently, Gaynor Maddox is an authority on good food. Since he also knows how to express himself in a clear, vivid prose, his articles telling how to cook such famous dishes as Chicken Solari, Philadelphia Pepper Pot and other choice American specialties will be welcomed by housewives all over the country.

CHICKEN SOLARI

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

SAN FRANCISCO treasures some of the liveliest food traditions in the world. Perched on hills overlooking a spectacular bay it has its French and Italian colonies, its exotic Chinatown, a large Spanish-American population and plenty of well-fed Germans to teach it how to turn its bountiful supplies into exciting meals.

Every restaurant boasts of at least one specialty. It may be a bisque of crayfish or

Problems of the Married Woman

Should Wives Have Men Callers?

By OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

ELEANOR HAZLITT—married two years but still working because she liked her job—locked her desk and went to the mirror to put on her hat. Mr. Ferree, the publisher to whom she was secretary, had gone to play golf early in the afternoon, but Eleanor had stayed until her watch said four-thirty. What was the use? It hadn't been below 90 for a week.

Her desk phone rang. Her husband probably telling her to go on and eat her dinner, that he was going to drive out to the club for a few sets of tennis before dark.

"Hello!"

It wasn't Ray. It was Mr. Fields—Mr. Fields asking for advice about books. He was here from England on the commission of selecting certain editions for a new library.

No, he didn't need to talk to Mr. Ferree. He was aware now since their short conversations in the publisher's office that Eleanor knew more about real books than her employer. There was an old and rare translation of Herodotus that perhaps she could help him run down.

She sighed wearily, but sotto voce, so to speak, and said brightly, "I may be able to help you. I have some lists of people you could go to. But they are not here, they are out at the house."

"That's too bad. I'd like very much to have them today. My time is short and I shall have to leave New York tomorrow for a week. I sail on the 16th."

"Well, then," said Eleanor, "why not come out and have dinner? My husband and I shall be delighted to have you." It was too late that she remembered about Ray.

Eleanor made her guest comfortable on the little awning-covered terrace that stretched beside their cottage house, a willow planted by herself had spread over the whole place. Mr. Fields, with ice-tea, cigars and magazines, declared that he had done nothing to deserve such luck in a sober business engagement.

Across the hedge Mr. Adams was pruning his shrubbery. Mrs. Adams joined him. They looked over. Eleanor called good-evening to them. They replied, without adding their customary comment on the heat, and looked at one another significantly.

The lists brought their heads close together. Later, the French doors into the dining-room being open, it was quite within the line of vision of the Adamses to see the two of them sitting alone at the small intimate table, dining by the candlelight.

Mr. Fields left at nine-thirty—Ray was not home yet, but Eleanor's guest had already remained an extra hour hoping to meet him.

Eleanor went to bed at ten. She was terribly tired and entertaining Mr. Fields was just more books after all. She lived, breathed and endured books. She needed more exercise, but Ray had no patience with her tennis and she hadn't time for golf. Really—the club—it was expensive and they shouldn't belong, but Ray said it kept him alive and—. She dropped off to sleep here and was awakened by Ray slamming the screen door and then bumping into a hall table and swearing in the darkness.

The next morning there was a fine row. The thoughtful neighbors had told Ray that Eleanor had been entertaining a male caller the night before, and Ray spoke his mind. Eleanor protested, naturally—and finally said that she was going to give up her job, adding:

"We'll give up the club, and sell the house, and I'll live on your salary."

"Why the heroics?"

"I'd rather be the wife you want me to be." At ten Eleanor's office phone rang. It was Ray. "Can you get off and take a ride this afternoon? I want to apologize."

"Sure, I'd love it."

"Tell old Ferree you're quitting, too. We'll do just what you said last night."

Eleanor looked at the letter of resignation beside her hand. Suddenly she crushed it.

"Who's crazy now? You know I wouldn't quit for worlds, silly. I was just talking."

Good-Bye to Jazz Furniture

AND now Queen Grace succeeds King Jazz, who reigned over furniture styles for the dozen years following the war. Charming Grace! Domestic Grace!

The trend away from the home has been succeeded by a period in which the hearth becomes doubly important. There is more entertaining done at home than at any time in the past score of years. The radio keeps folks by the fireside, where once they found their diversion at the movies, at the cabarets and road-houses and at similar places.

Grace is present in the styles in clothing, in motor cars, in coiffures, in architecture and all forms of art. The flair for the distorted, exotic and grotesque has been succeeded by an epoch of gracious formality.

So the homes of today are going in for grace. The finest designs ever conceived in this country, in Britain and in France were born during the latter half of the 18th Century. Today we see the styles of the late Georgians more popular than ever before. Southern Colonial, Hepplewhite, Sheraton, Chippendale and Louis XVI furniture is in the ascendency. In general it is light, delicate and gracious.

But the furniture is usually on a much smaller scale than the old pieces. The line and the proportion are the same, but they are adjusted to the smaller homes which we find so convenient today. The lower ceilings and smaller wall spaces in metropolitan apartments are now decorated with furniture which fits them as clothing fits the body it is tailored for.

Backgrounds are more attractive. Scenic wallpaper is being used more and more. Many apartments now have paneled walls. Door knobs are artistically designed. Clever closet space is provided for. Wall lights are more simple and are better placed. Architectural balance is supplied in the rooms by judicious placement of windows and doors.

There was a time, not so many years ago, when it was believed that a room, in order to be in fashion, had to follow some style peculiar to the time. The more nearly like everyone else's a living room was, the more style it had.

That time is past. Furniture that tells the casual guest what type of person lives in the house is much more comfortable and entertaining. It has personality, a thing that even chairs and tables need.

oysters a la Catalan, Spanish chicken pie, perhaps, or Quajatale En Mole, which really means young turkey cooked in red peppers the way the Mexicans like it.

But to my wandering palate there is nothing else quite so delectable in that city of perfect restaurants as chicken cooked at Solari's.

Many of the world's epicures have rested their feet on the thick red carpets of Solari's quiet restaurant and nibbled a bowl of tiny California shrimp while the chef was being ceremonial with a broiler down from Petaluma. What a delight awaits the patient diner!

I doubt if the far-famed climate has anything to do with the excellence of Solari's recipe. Once Mrs. Solari graciously told me how to prepare this culinary marvel. I have tried it in New York, on a farm in Connecticut and in a friend's apartment in Paris and it was always a success.

So why not ask the folks in for Sunday dinner and give them Chicken Solari, even though your dining room may be far from the Golden Gate?

Cut a young chicken into six pieces, singe them carefully and place in a bowl of sweet milk. Add salt—and, to be a true San Franciscan, a sliver of garlic. Let the chicken and milk play around together for half an hour, then dry the chicken on a towel.

SPRINKLE with salt, pepper and a little paprika and dust lightly with flour. Melt a large piece of butter in a heavy iron pan and brown the chicken lightly. Put the pan in a moderate oven and cook slowly for one hour, turning occasionally to keep the pieces golden brown on all sides.

When tender, remove to a large platter. Now be generous with yourself and pour two cups of heavy cream right into the drippings in the pan. Cream, remember; nothing else will do. Season delicately with salt, pepper, a little cayenne and a drop of Worcestershire sauce.

Stir the cream and drippings for 10 minutes and you will have a gravy de luxe of just the right consistency. You can strain the gravy if you like, but I prefer it right from the pan with all the tiny flakes of chicken in it. Pour over the chicken and pass more in a hot bowl.

A sweet potato pudding goes perfectly with Chicken Solari. Green string beans, cut in strips, boiled rapidly for 25 minutes in water with one-half lump of sugar added to revive garden freshness, gives the final touch.

Toss up a salad of lettuce and romaine in the California manner with a real French dressing, then serve chilled fresh pears, cheese and crackers and clear black coffee, and you and the folks will dine in the happy tradition of San Francisco.

Matching Flowers and Vases

YOU may be a wonderful gardener. But have you learned the fine art of knowing in just what vase to put your blooms when you transport your garden's cheer into the home?

There is growing up a cult in matching flowers and vases that will bear watching and cultivating. You don't match them in color, necessarily. You can't match them in shape. But you do match them in the feeling, the vase expressing something of the quality of the blooms they hold.

Nothing, for instance, could be lovelier for a dinner party than a vase of white roses. But put them in clear crystal vases, deep enough to hold them up, wide enough to let them spread, clear enough to show them through.

Calendula are best in pottery vases; often in low, green pottery vases that show their merry little faces when you sit down at meals.

Hollyhocks, gladioli and snapdragons all need the deepest type of vase to hold them. But they are a riot if you do have a deep pitcher that is their own gay color.

If you are entertaining much, visit a five and ten and just lay in a supply of different kinds of individual flower vases. When you have weekend guests, put a couple of daisies into one of these and see how gracious a reception they give.

With flags, or iris, you can build up a formal, symmetrical bouquet, cutting the stems different lengths until the center is tall indeed. If they are white, a black vase, in the goblet shape, is an inspiration. If they are yellow, matching crystal is good. If they are lavender, a silver cup might be the most beautiful thing in the world to hold them.

Certain flowers must be kept clustered or they will never look right. Buttercups, sweet peas, primroses, pansies, violets, sweet alyssum, heliotrope, sweet William, cosmos, nasturtiums all look gorgeous when you use lots of them, with foliage, to make a tight clustered bunch, in a low porcelain bowl.

Often nothing is nicer for these than a simple green vase that matches their foliage. It should be wide-mouthed, any shape you want, but should be shallow so that the flowers will stand up from them and be the thing you notice.

If you should ever take a fancy to having an exotic party and use orchids for the centerpiece, you can make a big splurge with three blossoms if you get an odd-shaped vase of clear crystal, preferably a low, octagonal or heptagonal shaped one.

Late News From Orange And Nearby Towns

Checks For $32,203.42 Mailed Lemon Growers

$76,073 PAID OUT BY HOUSE SINCE JANUARY

ORANGE, June 20.—Members of the Central Lemon association have received as a partial payment for the past month the sum of $32,203.42, the checks to growers having been mailed yesterday. Partial payments for the year now total $76,073. The monthly partial payment represents returns for fruit shipped in May.

Up to the present time from November 1, the Central Lemon association has shipped 158 cars of fruit, three of which went out yesterday. Previous to this shipment, 27 cars were shipped this week and a like number will be sent out next week.

At the present time the association is employing 275 men in the house and 160 in the field. For the first time in a number of years, white laborers have been employed in the field and according to Roy Runnells, association manager, their work has been very satisfactory.

While it is not true in every district in the state where the heaviest pick of the year is now being handled, it is estimated that by July the pick to July 1 will equal the entire pick of last year.

Storage for the Central Lemon association is said to be the heaviest ever known for this time of year, owing to the time the fruit has ripened. Lemons did not suffer from the cold snap this winter, it was said at the plant yesterday.

In speaking of marketing conditions the manager said yesterday: "If warm weather is experienced, the market will be brisk. We feel that the market will give fairly satisfactory returns although it is too much to hope for returns such as we had the past two or three years."

WOMAN COBBLER, DANCING GRADMA

MEMPHIS, Tenn.—When it comes to dancing, Mrs. Barney Watson, 58-year-old woman cobbler, takes no back seat for any young upstarts. With her husband, 49, this grandmother of five grandchildren dresses up every chance she gets and whirls about some ballroom floor until 1 or 2 o'clock in the morning.

The couple recently entered a city dancing championship and placed among the finalists. Mrs. Watson has been dancing since she was 6—for 43 years—and her husband has been dancing for 25 years.

Clara B. Handley Imposes Fines In Swayze's Absence

ORANGE, June 20.—Mrs. Clara B. Handley imposed three fines in the court of Judge A. W. Swayze yesterday, in the absence of the judge, who has been ill for the past few days.

Ray E. Fellows, 604 North Malden street, Fullerton, was given a fine of $2 for parking overtime and Frank Valenzuela, of Yorba Linda, was fined $10 for speeding on North Glassell street. Will Ohmer, of Garden Grove, was fined $10 for traveling 50 miles in a 20-mile zone.

Mrs. W. Kogler Is Hostess At Tea

ORANGE, June 20.—Mrs. Walter Kogler, 265 North Grand street, was hostess at an afternoon tea given this week in honor of Miss Della Hahn, who last night was married to Roy Swaggar, of Los Angeles. Miss Hahn was presented with a lovely array of gifts for her new home.

The tea table was especially attractive. The beautiful fillet lunch cloth which covered it was a gift to Mrs. Kogler from her husband on the occasion of the Kogler's wedding anniversary this week. A color scheme of orchid and green was carried out and green crystal candle holders held graceful orchid tapers. The centerpiece was a lovely arrangement of delicate orchid cosmos combined with maiden hair fern and a green crystal service was used.

Those present other than the hostess were Miss Della Hahn, Mrs. Justus Craemer, Mrs. O. K. Dean, Mrs. Arch Burkett, Mrs. B. D. Stanley and Mrs. Floyd Parsons.

PLACENTIA

PLACENTIA, June 20.—Tax rates of the Placentia Grammar school district will remain the same for next year, with the special school rate at 30 cents, the building tax at 15 cents and the kindergarten tax at 12 cents, while the budget completed this week by the school board amounts to $12,656.21 less than that of last year.

Reduced property valuations have been met by a reduced average daily attendance, that of the past year being 859 while the attendance of 1931-1930 was 872. Total funds for running expenses of this school year were $155,543.06, with $12,000 additional for the kindergarten, while next year's budget calls for $142,671.85 for the main school and $11,785 for the kindergarten.

Travelers Honor Guests at Dinner In Jamison Home

ORANGE, June 20.—Mrs. O. M. Coates and Mrs. F. V. Jamison were hostesses last evening at a charmingly appointed bon voyage dinner given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Dever, who are leaving Monday on a 10 weeks' trip abroad. The table was centered with tiny American flags and each place was marked by a tiny flag. Huge clusters of pale pink gladioluses and ferns in the decorations about the rooms of the Jamison home where the dinner was given.

Those present at the delightful event were Mr. and Mrs. Charles DeVer, Mrs. Frank Connor, Miss Tettha Connor, Mrs. Metzgar, of Santa Ana, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Coates and Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Jamison.

After the ceremony, which was witnessed by immediate relatives of the bride, the group returned to Orange and a reception was given in honor of the newlyweds last evening in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Parsons, North Glassell street.

Stately gladiolus blooms and fragrant and colorful petunias were used in the floral decorations. Ice cream and cakes were served. Mrs. Parsons' daughters, Miss Erma Parsons and Miss Lois Parsons, assisted in their mother in serving.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hahn, Richard Pike and Mrs. M. W. Hahn, of Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Hughes, and son, Larry, of Santa Monica; Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Hahn and sons, Gerald and Floyd, of Three Rivers, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. Will Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Parsons and son, Gerald; Miss Erma Parsons, Miss Lois Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Hahn, of Fresno, Miss Natalie Hahn, of Puente; Mr. and Mrs. H. Guller and daughters, Anna Marie, of Burbank, Mr. and Mrs. Eugene H. Clung, daughter Barbara and Eugene, of Huntington Park.

The bride has lived in Orange for a number of years and has been a popular member of the class of the First Methodist church and has taken an active part in social and church activities. Mr. and Mrs. Swaggar left last night to make their home on the ranch of the bridegroom near Fresno.

Between the Two Americas," dealing mostly with the mission in Porto Rico. The meetings will be continued throughout the summer.

DELLA HAHN OF ORANGE WEDS ROY SWAGGER

ORANGE, June 20.—A quiet wedding of yesterday was that of Miss Della Hahn and Roy Swaggar, the wedding ceremony taking place at the Methodist parsonage at Huntington Park, with the Rev. S. M. Sampson, pastor of the church, reading the service. Miss Hahn wore a lovely gown of rose beige lace with harmonizing accessories. The bride and bridegroom were attended by Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Foster, of this city. Mrs. Foster wore a smart black and white ensemble.

After the ceremony, which was witnessed by immediate relatives of the bride, the group returned to Orange and a reception was given in honor of the newlyweds last evening in the home of the bride's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd W. Parsons, North Glassell street.

TROJAN THIMBLEFULLS

BY AL WESSON

UNIVERSITY OF SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA, June 16.—It was not the fault of Ted Husing, who has a clear right to be called the leading sports announcer of the country, when he signed off the broadcast of the I. C. A. A. A. meet with the news that Stanford had won it. An inexperienced assistant muddled up the figures. Although Husing was entirely not at fault and did a remarkable job of broadcasting an event that would present almost insurmountable difficulties for the average announcer, he took the blame without an alibi and is the first for something in which he is blameless.

Radio sports announcing is made a real art by competent men. Don Thompson of San Francisco comes to mind as an announcer of gridiron games who can give the listener a valuable lesson in football along with a vivid picture. Lloyd Yoder, also of San Francisco, has the same knack. While mentioning San Francisco broadcasters, here's a cheer for Ernie Smith's announcing of the Southern California-Stanford meet. Ernie's enthusiasm in every phrase, no matter who was winning, gave real thrills to his hearers.

Track men compete individually and yet this year's Trojan squad was a real team in every sense of the word, with individual performers always putting the team first. Here's a sample of the interest they took in each other.

When Ernie Payne barely qualified in his semi-final heat of the I. C. A. A. A. low hurdles, he was dead tired, nearly suffocated by the heat and sick all over. As soon as Vic Williams had won his quarter, he wasted no time hanging around for the bonuses that go to the winner, but joined another teammate who had won Ernie's plight and worked over him for an hour, applying ice packs and rubbing him down. Just before the finals, their work brought Ernie to life. He went out refreshed, won the event and equalled the I. C. A. A. record.

Dean Cromwell says that the reason Pete Chelentzos did not place in the pole vault in the East was that he was a lot more interested in Bill Graber than in himself. Pete hovered around Bill like a mama hen, keeping him relaxed between vaults telling him, "Fill him up with good advice on his form and firing him with the old fight just before he started down the runway. Pete

Running for the first time in open competition, Evelyn Furttsch, recently discovered girl sprint phenom, of Tustin high school, proved her caliber by winning the women's 100-yard dash in 11.6 seconds in the pre-Olympic meet at the Los Angeles Coliseum last night. Miss Furttsch, a junior, defeated such experienced sprinters as Anna Vrana O'Brien and Eileen Hunt. Later, running the first lap, she was a member of a relay team that ran 440 yards in 53.2 seconds.

Remember how old Tawn Heene encountered a woodland nymph while wandering in the sylvan dells outside of his Fairhaven, N. J., training camp before the Tunney-Heene fight?

And remember how somebody took a pot shot at Jack Dempsey one dark midnight as the former champion was steaming up the ballyhoo for the Sharkey-Stribling fight at Miami Beach?

Walter St. Denis usually has a hand in yarns like those. He is the head publicity man for the Madison Square Garden corporation. If it's a fanciful story, plausible but hardly probable, about one of the contenders, St. Denis is in on it somewhere.

St. Denis is a woodland newspaper man, but his imagination got the best of him. That is why he turned ballyhoo expert, fellows who think up weird tales and turn them over to the newspapers for page one headlines.

When a championship fight is scheduled, St. Denis establishes headquarters in a suite of hotel rooms, orders plenty of refreshments for the members of the press, glad-hands the city officials and in spare moments devises publicity schemes to get the contenders in the limelight.

Jay Thomas and Jim Jennings tend shop with St. Denis. Sam Hall lies himself away to Schmeling's camp where he taps out stories by the yard. Jack Bell treks to Stribling's training site and immediately starts the business of smoking up the Georgian's activities.

So, if you see any day now of how Schmeling or Stribling tossed himself in front of a thundering express train to rescue Edna Schultz's kitten, don't be overcome. It's the ballyhoo.

TROJAN SPRINT STAR RUNS 100 YARDS IN 9.5

BY RONALD W. WAGONER (United Press Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, June 20.—(UP)—Frank Wykoff of the University of Southern California, ranked today as the unofficial world's 100-yard dash champion after a thrilling victory over Percy Williams of Canada in a pre-Olympic meet in the Coliseum last night.

Running against Williams in a field of seven starters, Wykoff never was headed as he sprinted to the tape in 9.5 seconds, equaling the official world's mark held by Eddie Tolan of Michigan. He was 1-10 of a second short of his own unrecognized world mark.

Williams trailed badly and was barely able to finish fourth.

The race rounded out a season of victories for Wykoff and stamped him as the leading candidate for dash honors in the 1932 Olympic Games to be held in Los Angeles. By winning, he avenged his double defeat in the 100 and 200 meters by Williams in the 1928

Amsterdam Games and a 100-meter defeat by the Canadian at Vancouver in 1929.

Another personal victory went to Vic Williams, also of U. S. C., when he beat Ben Eastman, his Stanford rival, by three feet in a special 440-yard run.

Williams' time was 48.4. The race failed to develop the anticipated thrill as the runners were not in the same excellent condition as earlier in the season when each took a victory over the other and each tied the old Ted Meredith mark of 47.4.

Eastman was approximately three feet ahead of Williams until the final 50 yards when the Trojan uncocked his cannonball finish and drove ahead of the Stanford sophomore.

The meet, a preview of what Los Angeles may expect in 1932, was brilliantly staged and included such diversions as wrestling, boxing, tumbling and polo.

Dudley Goes Under Par To Lead Golfers

DAYTON, O., June 20.—(UP)—Big Ed Dudley of Wilmington, Del., stroked his way to retain the lead in the western open golf tournament today, carding a 70, one under par for a 5-hole total of 209.

Olin Dutra, Santa Monica, Calif., among the earlier finishers of the morning round, shot a 73 for a 54-hole aggregate of 216. Bob McDonald, Chicago, came in with a 72 to tie him while Mortie Dutra, of Long Beach, Calif., was a stroke behind with 217.

Walter Hagen found his shooting eye again today and scored a 69 for an aggregate of 212.

George Von Elm, the California "business man" golfer, had a disastrous 77, moving his total to 219 for a tie with Denny Shute, 10 strokes behind Dudley.

MANY COLLEGE TEAMS TO GET DON GRADUATES

BY "SKY" DUNLAP

Graduation, combined with intelligence and withdrawals, will deal a hard blow to the athletic teams of Santa Ana junior college next year, but various institutions of higher learning will profit from the exodus of Dons who wore their caps and gowns last week.

The U. S. C. Trojans will receive the largest number of Dons, seven athletes planning to enroll there. The University of California at Berkeley is next with four. Oregon State is third with three. U. C. L. A. and Harvard are next with two each and Stanford, Pomona, Mississippi, Texas university, Whittier and Loyola each one each.

Of the U. S. C.-bound boys, Melvin Beatty is the most versatile, winning two Don letters in football, basketball, baseball, track and swimming. Other future Trojans are Wilbert Buescher, tennis; Truscott Lindsey, basketball, golf and track; Leslie McDonald, golf; Joe Rodriguez, track; Warren Schutz, track, and Elmer Whisler, baseball.

The Golden Bears of Berkeley will receive Max Appleby, basketball, tennis; Ed Connor, tennis; Eric Reinaud, track, and Manfred Mueller, tennis.

The U. C. L. A. Bruins will welcome Franklin Van Meter, football, and Edgar Fry, tennis.

WILLIE HOPPE, COCHRAN PLAY HERE TONIGHT

Willie Hoppe, idol of the billiard world ever since he became world's champion as a headless boy, will display his cue wizardry here tonight.

Accompanied by Welker Cochran, the young Hollywood player who succeeded him to the balking throne, Hoppe appears at 8 o'clock at the Valencia parlors, 516 North Main street. They also were scheduled for an exhibition this afternoon.

Three-cushion billiards as well as balking will be demonstrated by Hoppe and Cochran, who are one of their periodical tours of the country. They will lead off with 200 points of 18.2 and wind up the exhibition with 25 points of three-cushions and some trick and fancy shots.

Hoppe is ranked as the greatest billiard player who ever lived. He was a child prodigy who could run an astounding number of billiards when so small his father had to lift him to a box so Willie could reach the table. He won the 18.1 title in 1907 and succeeded to the 18.2 monarchy in 1910, remaining the champion until 1921, when his title was lifted by Jake Schaefer Jr. His skill at three-cushions is attested by his record run of 25, made at San Diego in 1913.

In a game that exacts a fearful toll, mentally and physically, when played as champions play it, Hoppe, by systematic exercise and careful regime, has retained most of his amazing youthful ability.

Cochran is a former champion himself, both at 18.2 and three-cushions. He was here on tour several years ago with Erich Hagenlacher, the German who became titleholder one year, and saved the show. Hagenlacher was badly off form, but Cochran, stroking brilliantly, made such enormous runs that the champion's inability was forgotten.

TY COBB TO RESIDE IN SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, June 20.—(INS)—Gyrrus Raymond Cobb, the old "Georgia Peach" and one of baseball's most noted figures, was in San Francisco today prepared to make the city by the Golden Gate, his permanent address.

Whether Sir Tyrus will dabble in local baseball is a question which he refused to answer directly.

"First of all I want to get my family out here and get settled," he declared.

"Maybe, after that, I'll consider baseball a little more seriously. Who knows?"

CUE CHAMP HERE

Touring the Pacific Coast, Willie Hoppe (below) and Welker Cochran, internationally-known billiard champions, will be in Santa Ana tonight for an exhibition.

Tuesday's Schedule

Santa Ana at Whittier; Anaheim at Garden Grove; Huntington Beach at Oliver; Fullerton at Westminster; North Long Beach at Long Beach.

Oliver, Whittier and Anaheim finished in a dead heat for second place in the first half of the National Night league's split season, completed last night. They were all five games back of the champion Santa Anans.

Whittier defeated Huntington Beach, 7-5, in the feature of Friday's cycle, making five runs in the last of the ninth to win a game they had apparently lost in the first two innings when both Maeness and Liebziet, the big guns of the Huntington Beach attack, drove home runs with runners aboard off Fat Ehrich, rookie Poot pitcher.

Morning collapsed in the ninth, however, and two walks followed by successive singles by Rodriguez, Moon, Jertberg and Hill broke up the game.

WESTMINSTER IN SURPRISE WIN OVER PEPPERS

After losing 11 games in succession, Westminster closed the first half with a surprise victory over Garden Grove, 4-3. Ira DeBuck, young aviator gunner, won his own game with a double in the ninth that scored Wilson, who had walked. DeBuck fanned 13.

COMPLETE WOMEN'S LIFE SAVING TESTS

Final results of the junior and senior life-saving examinations for high school and junior college women showed that in the senior division Lorna Allen, Eugenia Gire and May Hasenjaeger passed high test and others passing the test were Kathryn Bement, Ruth Dunn, Marian Toose and Florence Hart.

In the junior division those passing were Mary Tuthill, Elizabeth Downie, Allene Fitzpatrick and Virginia Hopper. Examiners were Maud Moore and Martha McPeak of the Y. W. C. A.

These girls will receive the regular junior and senior Red Cross life-saving emblems of the American Red Cross.

STARS WIN 17 OF 18 GAMES IN FIRST HALF

They wiped the slates clean today while ten National Night Baseball league teams took a deep breath before plunging Tuesday into the second half of a grueling championship struggle that gives no quarter until August 21.

The halfway mark was reached last night and on top of the whole heap was Santa Ana—just a good, game ball club that completed the most amazing stretch run in the history of the league by beating the second-place Packers of Olive, 5 to 3, although two regulars were out of it with injuries.

Santa Ana finished the first half five full games ahead of its nearest opposition. It won 17 of the 18 games, the long run of success being broken only by a 5-1 defeat at Anaheim. No other team in the league has ever approached such a record.

Olive, hopeful of stopping the Stars and finishing in undisputed possession of second place, was beaten by the razor-edge timeliness of Santa Ana's attack. The champions made most of their hits off Rudy Heman mean something.

Cornelius Tight

Olive made its singles count too, as far as that goes, but "Jumpy" Joe" Cornelius wouldn't let the Packers do any hitting after the second inning so their style was naturally cramped. Only three Olivemen got to first base after Cornelius' bad round; one saw second, he expired there.

The Stars got the jump. "Rosy" Merrill singled to left with one away in the first frame and Leavitt Daley scored him with a triple to left, Daley scooting home too on Guenther's erratic relay.

Olive made all its runs in the second. Guenther singled to left, took another base when Bell kicked the drive. Griffith beat out a bounding hit to Shortstop Hill. Guenther, holding second, Shell's sharp single, to center scored Guenther and sent Griffith to third, Shell taking second on the throw-in. Griffith tried to score on a short passed ball, but Catcher Ed Daley threw him out. Cornelius covering the plate, Peterson lined straight at Merrill in right field who let the ball go through him, Peterson scoring all the way from first, Shell, of course, preceding him across the pan.

Stars Knot Score

That made the count 3-2 in Olive's favor. Santa Ana tied it up in its half of the ninth. Scott walked. Cole singled and Smith sacrificed, putting runners on third and second with one away.

Cornelius' high bounding ball to Thomas at shortstop forced Cole at third but Scott made the tying run on the fielder's choice.

Three long singles won the ball game in the fifth. Merrill started it with a knock to left. He took second on Leavitt Daley's infield out, scored on Ed Daley's vicious single to center. Ed raced to second on Randolph Bell's ringing single to left.

Cornelius struck out 13 and in general conducted himself as a winning pitcher after the second. Thury walked in the sixth but was forced at second. Thomas beat out a bunt and Thury singled in the eighth, with only one out, but Cornelius got Hatfield on a fly to Bell and fanned Breije. While Heman was not quite as effective as usual against the Stars he pitched well and might have won had the breaks favored him.

In conformance with the new and somewhat sudden rule passed at a league meeting the other night, Manager George Lackaye must release one of his three Santa Ana pitchers before Tuesday. Lackaye says the deciding who must go is the hardest job he has been called on to perform this season. The theory of the legislation is to bolster weak clubs by making strong teams shake loose with their excess pitching talent.

FARM NEWS FROM EVERYWHERE

CONCERNS WITH MORTGAGES TO OPERATE LAND

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 20.—Oklahoma investment companies holding scores of eastern Oklahoma farms surrounded through foreclosure during the acute agricultural depression have started a program of rehabilitation along cooperative farming methods.

In business meetings officials of these investment and mortgage companies have outlined plans and urged expert supervisors. The method was described to United Press by Lester B. Smith, Oklahoma City investment company official.

Each farm is being closely supervised. Buildings are being placed in comfortable living condition, thousands of acres are being tilled and considerable fertilizer applied to the depleted soil," Smith said.

The first objective is to attract desirable tenants. These tenants would be placed under a supervisor who will act as the agent of the corporate investor in farming the lands for the greatest prospective disposition of the farms when real estate prices become normal and the depression is over.

Smith said that tenants would be a certain percentage of revenue so that initiative would be shared. He distinguished between his plan and that of corporate farming, organization and operated for continual ration and profit, should not be considered in the same light as a large number of farms as a corporate investor who has acquired these lands under foreclosure of a mortgage and is desirous of farming these lands as much time as they may be used of to some individual farmer.

Corporate farming is a bit different and has more or less of an antagonistic appeal to the average American. No one, however, familiar with the difficulties encountered by investors in disposing of farm lands acquired under foreclosure will object to an investor's farming such lands under agricultural conditions improve a definite market is established for land.

1,000 PHEASANTS IN PENNSYLVANIA

ARRISBURG, Pa. June 20.—Pennsylvania state game warden have produced 12,000 baby pheasants during the 1931 hatch season and expect as many as 100,000 before it is ended.

In addition 9,000 eggs have been added to game refuge keepers' 3,000 to sportsmen and hunt-organization for their own development. The game farms are divided into sections, one a laying field the other a rearing field for breeding season. One man tends his entire time collecting eggs deposited by the pheasants in the laying fields. The eggs hatched in incubators. Out of the pheasants being reared are the ring-neck variety, the breeders are also developing fancy varieties, such as Silver Pheasant, Reeve's Pheasant, Mexican Chalcals, and Golden Pheasant, for display and exhibition. Experiments also are being conducted in breeding bob-white.

CANTALOUPE TIME IS HERE

They just know that summer's here down in California's Imperial valley, for cantaloupes are ripe, and the job of shipping 23,000 carloads east is being tackled by growers and the Southern Pacific railway. Photo shows Billy Strom, whose personal observations on a ranch at Brawley indicate they must be good.

PORK PRODUCTION IN U. S. SHOWS DROP

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 20.—Pork production is tending to go below last year's level in the United States and Canada but the production trend is upward in practically all European producing countries except Denmark, says the bureau of agricultural economics in its June report on world hog and pork prospects.

Hog slaughter and bacon exports in Denmark were larger in April than a year ago, but the rate of output has been declining in recent months, according to the bureau. In Germany and the Netherlands, however, "pork production shows no signs of declining." The bureau expects that hog slaughter in the United States for the remainder of the current marketing year will be somewhat smaller than that of the corresponding period a year ago.

The demand for American cured pork products in British markets is reported "restricted by record receipts from Denmark, supplemented by increasing quantities from other European countries. The European market during May weakened further under pressure from European supplies."

State Inspectors Find Citrus Pests At Border Stations

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—Principal citrus pests, citrus mealybug and citrus canker, destructive diseases affecting citrus trees; alfalfa weevil and the corn ear worm were intercepted at California border inspection stations during the past fortnight, according to the state department of agriculture.

While more than 600 distinct lots of infested materials were found in the effects of highway travelers at the 22 outposts maintained by the plant quarantine and pest control bureau for the protection of agricultural interests, the foregoing were considered the more important of interceptions made as westward tourist traffic increased to full swing for the summer months.

DECLARE HORDE OF LOCUSTS HARMLESS

COLUMBUS, O., June 20.—No alarm need be felt over the advent of the 17-year "locust" breed of 1931, which is now making its appearance in Ohio and a portion of Pennsylvania and West Virginia, according to experts at Ohio State university.

The experts explained that the 17-year locust was really a cicada, and an almost harmless relative to the harvest fly, although appearing formidable because of the noise made by it and the large numbers in which the breed appear. Records available in Ohio show that the 17-year locust invaded the state in 1829, 1846, 1863, 1897 and 1914.

Lemon Shipments Of Exchange For Month Show Gain

Heavier shipments of California lemons, an increased demand and rising prices have been the features of the lemon market during the past month, according to T. H. Powell, lemon sales manager of the California Fruit Growers' exchange. During May lemon shipments of the California Fruit Growers' exchange were extremely heavy and were greater than any previous May shipments since 1926. Average prices showed a decided increase during the early part of June, though decay in some shipments tended to lower the general average.

The amount of exchange lemons in storage is well above the average for the past five years and is only exceeded by the storage for the same period in 1929. Estimates indicate that there are approximately 1000 less cars in storage at this time than in 1929.

IMPORTS FALL OFF

Agricultural imports of the United States decreased from $1,449,239 during the period from July to March, 1929-1930, to $863,605, 000 during the same period of 1930-1931.

HOW TO CULL POULTRY RADIO TOPIC JUNE 22

Beginning each day at noon and continuing 10 minutes, talks of interest to farmers, growers and producers will be given during the week beginning June 22, under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension service, co-operating with radio station KFI, as follows:

June 22—"How to Cull Poultry," L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

June 23—"Avocado Question Box," M. B. Rounds, farm advisor, Los Angeles county.

June 24—"The Southern Counties Commissioners' Organization," A. E. Bittel, agricultural commissioner, Riverside.

June 25—"California Trees and Forests," Woodbridge Metcalf, extension forester, University of California.

June 26—"Turkey Production in San Bernardino County," A. L. Campbell, assistant farm advisor, San Bernardino county.

CALAVO GROWERS IN BREAD FIELD

Discovery of a promising outlet for the California avocado industry in the by-products field is announced officially by the industry's marketing organization, the Calavo Growers of California.

A new "standard" in the bread industry and probable changes in the production of bread as an industry is predicted with the Calavo bread formula just completed. The bread will contain the 16 elements found in the human blood necessary for health of the body and brain, this "bread of health" is the second by-product of the Calavo industry and is to be given an early appearance on the markets by bakers. Calavo ice cream was the first by-product found and has become an appetizing favorite.

The Calavo bread formula was completed by George A. Lea, cereal chemist of Los Angeles.

COTTON'S PLAGUE

Twelve per cent of the annual cotton crop, valued at $153,000,000, is destroyed by boll weevils, the U. S. department of agriculture reports.

Benjamin Franklin attended school only two years—between the ages of eight and ten.

AVOCADO MEET AT COUNTY FAIR BIG SUCCESS

BY HAROLD E. WAHLBERG
County Farm Advisor

International interest was displayed in the extensive sub-tropical exhibit featured at the recent Orange County Valencia Orange Show and Fair by the avocado department of the Orange County Farm bureau. Visitors from Morocco, Algeria, Spain, France, Italy, Mexico, Hawaii, Canada, Philippines, Japan, India, Palestine and Central American countries came to see the collection of almost 500 plates of avocado and miscellaneous sub-tropical fruits during the 10 days of showing at Anaheim. The visitors were generally surprised to see the avocado fruits that have been adopted in the home of Orange county and Southern California agriculture.

Besides the 90 different varieties of avocados shown, ranging in size from a peanut to a cantaloupe, miscellaneous fruit listed included papaya, bananas, monstera deliciosa, kumquats, passion fruit, sapotas, carobs, Chinese lemons, tangelos, sweet limes, mandarins, Rangpur limes, macadamias, citrons, cherimoyas and many others.

Seventy-three growers exhibited their products in this section. Sam Thompson of Carlsbad took first prize for the largest number of varieties displayed, taking into consideration also quality. The Irvine ranch took second honors and George Beck of La Habra third.

An educational exhibit showing all phases of propagation and growing from the seed to the mature tree was shown. Carl Nichols of Garden Grove had charge of this phase. Through the courtesy of the Calavo Growers, boxed fruit was shown featuring various packs, sizes and varieties. Judge F. D. Halm, La Habra, chairman of the avocado growers department of the farm bureau, and his committee were busy all week explaining uses and the growing of the avocado in answer to hundreds of queries. The booth was a veritable beehive.

During the sessions the following resolution was unanimously passed by the growers:

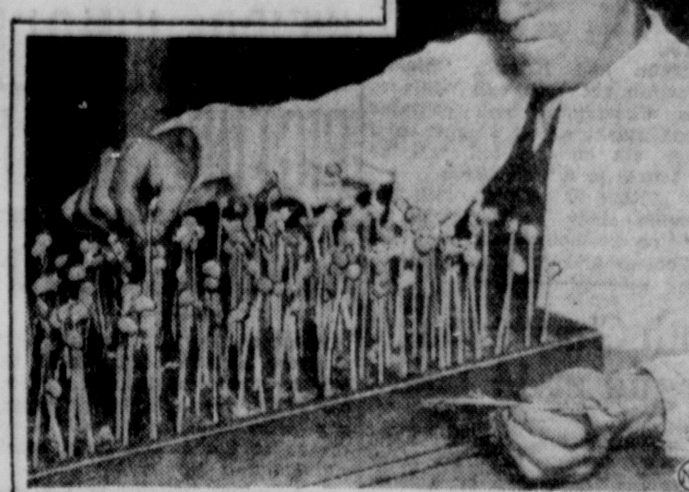

"Whereas, There is need for a standard summer avocado to supplement the Fuerte variety, the outstanding commercial variety of the industry at the present time, and

"Whereas, Mexico is the native habitat of this hardy strain where it may be found many varieties of the Mexican group, and

"Whereas, The early explorations in Mexico were suddenly discontinued

"Therefore, Be it the sense of this meeting of 175 representative growers from Orange, Los Angeles, San Diego, Ventura and San Bernardino counties that an urgent request be made to the bureau of plant introduction and secretary of agriculture to renew its project on avocado exploration in Mexico with the above expressed purpose in view, and

"Furthermore, That a copy of this resolution be sent to our congressmen asking their co-operation in securing funds for said project if necessary."

Over 12,000,000 Bushels Barley In State This Year

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—California will produce approximately 12,000,000 bushels of barley this year, according to a report of the California Co-operative Crop Reporting service.

Last year the production was estimated at 35,420,000 bushels, harvested from 922,000 acres. Owing to the severe drought the 1931 area for harvest is estimated at approximately 650,000 acres.

The five-year average production of barley in California has been approximately 30,000,000 bushels, equivalent to about 750,000 tons.

3 DEMONSTRATIONS ON SPRAYS SLATED

A series of three field demonstrations featuring the use of tank mix oil sprays will be held on June 30, July 1 and 2 in Orange county, according to Farm Advisor H. E. Wahlberg. The demonstrations will be held near Placentia, Anaheim and Orange. The definite locations will be announced later.

Considerable interest has been manifested by the citrus industry in the new process of tank mix for oil sprays developed by the entomologists of the citrus experiment station. The new process, which has given satisfactory results in Orange county as observed by the agricultural commissioner and his inspectors, offers a means of pest control that will be considerably cheaper in material costs.

All growers and spray operators are invited to attend the demonstrations and learn of its economical merits as well as effectiveness for scale control.

NEVADA PRODUCTION

Arid Nevada produced crops valued at more than $23,000,000, leading in the 1929 crop season. Leading in value was hay, with cattle and calves second.

BUY OTHERS' HAY

Farmers of North Carolina purchased about 500,000 tons of hay outside the state last year.

COUNTRY LIFE MEETING SET FOR AUGUST 17

ITHACA, N. Y., June 20.—With a view to devising means to improve rural life in the United States, the 14th annual American Country Life conference will be held here August 17 to 20.

Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who stressed the balance maintained by France between her agricultural and industrial resources, upon his return from France recently, will be one of the chief figures at the official act upon his return was to send invitations to the governors of all the states to attend the conference.

Noted educators and experts on rural problems are scheduled to attend, a preliminary program reveals. These include G. W. Rutherford, professor of political science, Iowa State college; Governor Clifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania; Francis B. Haas, president of State Teachers' college, Bloomsburg, Pa.; and E. C. Branson, professor of rural and social economics, University of North Carolina; Theodore R. Manly, bureau of agricultural economics, U. S. department of agriculture; Robert H. Tucker, dean, Washington and Lee university; and chairman of the Virginia state commission on county government; F. F. Hill, professor of rural economy, Cornell university; Perry P. Deane, secretary of the Ohio Welfare conference, and E. S. Foster, secretary New York state federation of farm bureau associations.

Village Management

County organization and management, village and township government, taxation, public education, public health and welfare, and rural planning are problems to be discussed.

Olive Measure In Effect August 14

SACRAMENTO, June 20.—Olive, one of the world's oldest fruits, will become California's newest standardized product August 14, when the new canned olive standardization law becomes effective. The statute, passed by the 1931 legislature and promptly signed by Governor Rolph, was drafted and introduced with the approval of the olive canning industry and olive growers throughout the state.

SHOW PREVIEW AT FOX BROADWAY TONIGHT

"Trader Horn" Returned To Santa Ana By Request

BOB SHERWOOD COMPANY SEEN IN NEW VODVIL

Bob Sherwood and Company, in a high-class dancing, singing and comedy act, will feature the vaudeville program at the Fox West Coast theater Saturday and Sunday.

The act, unique and new, is expected to be one of the best that has been brought to Santa Ana this year. It comes highly recommended to the local theaters and will headline the stage performance. Five men and two women are in the act.

DeComa and Kramo, Chinese, present an act they call "Chinese Gloom Chasing," which contains musical numbers and singing, and another act on the bill will be Fred Lewis in a monologue.

The picture to be seen with the vaudeville show is "Everything's Rosie," new comedy featuring Robert Woolsey and Anita Louise.

Ruth Chatterton Began at 14 Years

Ruth Chatterton, whose latest Paramount vehicle is "The Magnificent Lie," has been an actress since the age of 14 and a star since she was 18.

WEIRD JUNGLE PICTURE SEEN AT WEST COAST

"Trader Horn," probably the greatest picture of its kind that has ever been made, and certainly one of the greatest pictures from a box-office standpoint, will be returned to Santa Ana for a second run starting Monday.

The picture, which played a week here at the Fox Broadway theater several months ago, has been requested so much lately that Manager Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager for Santa Ana, has booked it for the Fox West Coast theater for three days, starting Monday.

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer went to much expense to send a whole troupe to Africa, where all of the scenes were taken. The actors risked their lives in making the scenes, but out of it all has come one of the strangest stories the screen has ever told.

It is the story of two white men who go to the jungle country and there find a white woman, ruler of the blacks. She is as fierce as any beast, wilder than many, and she rules the tribe with an iron hand. She falls in love with one of the men and is finally rescued from the jungle, but not until after one of the most amazing tales that has ever been offered has been related.

The wild beast scenes are particularly good, and the picture throughout is one that should be seen by every child as well as grownup in Santa Ana.

SEEN IN "TRADER HORN"

Mahoney Show At West Coast Will Hand Out Gifts

Each Wednesday night is "gift" night at the Fox West Coast theater and has been for the past several weeks, when valuable prizes are handed out to those in the audience as gifts from various Santa Ana merchants.

The prizes are awarded with the Eddie Mahoney Fun Frolic and Fashion review staged at the West Coast on Wednesday nights and according to an announcement made today by Norman Sprowl, Fox theater manager here, the giving away of the "grand" gifts will start next Wednesday night.

An electric refrigerator will be one gift, a suit of clothes another, a piano another and a bicycle another. There also will be numerous other gifts handed out during the course of the performance.

MARY ASTOR IS STARRING IN REX BEACH PICTURE

"White Shoulders," the new Radio picture now occupying the Fox Broadway theater screen, boasts the talents of three of the finest players in pictures today—Mary Astor, Jack Holt and Ricardo Cortez.

Mary Astor's performance in this story by Rex Beach has already received high commendation from the critics. This star, who leaped to new prominence with her fine playing opposite Ann Harding in "Holiday," and later duplicated in such productions as "Behind Office Doors," "The Mighty," and other outstanding films, is seen in the principal female role in "White Shoulders."

Playing opposite her is Jack Holt, rugged he-man and two-fisted incarnation of the screen, whose acting in "Dirigible" and "Subway Express" are among current highlights.

Ricardo Cortez, suave and charming screen villain, is again seen to advantage in a role sympathetically portrayed in spite of its character. Cortez, it is said, does the finest acting of his career in "White Shoulders."

The story was written especially for RKO Radio pictures by Rex Beach, and was taken by that famous author from an actual marriage of the kind depicted in the film—that of a chorus girl wedded to a multi-millionaire whose ideas of love are too primitive for her tastes, and who finds solace in the arms of a suave gentleman of glib pretensions. There are a number of surprises promised in "White Shoulders" which lift it far above the run of the domestic triangle films.

"I TAKE THIS WOMAN" IS NEW WESTERN FILM

The first showing of a new and strange picture will be made at the Fox Broadway theater at 8:30 o'clock tonight, in connection with the regular feature picture, "White Shoulders," it was announced today by Francis Glab, theater manager.

It is the first time that the Fox theaters have had a preview in Santa Ana on Saturday and although no advance information regarding the name of the new film or what it is like has been received here, it is understood that the film is a weird and fantastic story few of which have ever been filmed.

Arrangements were not completed for the showing of the preview here until late last night.

"I Take This Woman," Paramount picture starring Gary Cooper and Carole Lombard, comes to the Fox Broadway theater tomorrow for the first-of-the-week run of four days.

It is Cooper's latest picture and, according to critics, his best. Once again he is seen as the Westerner, the role he likes the best and the role that apparently likes him the best.

"I Take This Woman" is a real, down-to-earth love story that is clean—human—understandable. It is the kind of a picture that will "click" because it is so human. Cooper will appeal from the start as the rough Westerner who falls in love with a blonde heiress and who finds that he has a tough battle on his hands to hold her after he gets her.

Paramount has been grooming Miss Lombard for some time. She "arrives" in "I Take This Woman." Her performance clearly shows that confidence in her has not been misplaced. She is headed for stardom and this picture is the first big step she has taken.

"OFFICE WIFE" RETURNED HERE AS "REVIVAL"

"The Office Wife," Warner Brothers' daring story of what goes on behind office doors after working hours and even during those hours, which was one of the sensations of the screen last year, will be the revival picture brought to the Fox West Coast theater Monday.

The picture stars the blonde English star, Dorothy Mackall, and is undoubtedly the best screen work that she has ever done.

It is a dramatic story of a girl in love with her boss, but who is kept in her place as merely his "office wife," while his real wife makes her feel miserable throughout most of the film.

There are some romantic scenes, so real bits of acting on the part of Lewis Stone, who is the office boss and particularly by Miss Mackall.

The picture will be shown only the one time, between the first and second shows Monday night. The feature on the bill is "Trader Horn."

Sally O'Neil Back To Resume Career

Sally O'Neil, absent from the screen for a number of months, returns in Paramount's "Murder by the Clock," story of a man murdered twice in a single evening.

Miss O'Neil was featured in such early talking pictures as "On With the Show," "The Sophomore," "The Show of Shows" and "Jazz Heavens."

MARJORIE RAMBEAU GETS 'SILENCE' ROLE

Marjorie Rambeau, stage star "Kick In," "Eyes of Youth" and others, has been signed by Paramount to enact one of the lead roles in the screen production Max Marcin's play, "Silence," with Clive Brook and Peggy Shannon.

ROBT. WOOLSEY STARS IN NEW RADIO COMEDY

Romance, as it lives and flourishes in the grimy sawdust of side shows—in the patched, poverty ridden interior of a medicine man's home on wheels!

And laughs as they come in the supreme essence of humor—sublime laughs from pathos' depths—giddy laughs from sheer ridiculousness—booming laughs from hilarious situations!

That in spirit is Radio pictures' "Everything's Rosie," at the Fox West Coast theater, starring Robert Woolsey.

Comedian Most Effective

Woolsey soars to far higher comedy in this production even than he did with Bert Wheeler in their string of successes, "The Cuckoos," "Half Shot at Sunrise," "Hook, Line and Sinker," and "Cracked Nuts."

As the faker who sells "Dreko" which cures everything from love to rheumatism; the petty crook with the great heart who adopts a helpless, abused wail and raises her to a creature of grace and beauty; as the auctioneer who sells "Big Bens" for "27 Jewel Swiss Movements," Woolsey spills wisecracks with more than his accustomed speed, yet finds opportunity to give some excellent sympathetic acting that lends a depth of pathos as effective as it is surprising.

Capable Supporting Cast

Radio pictures has found a new Robert Woolsey in this production, one whose fame should exceed that of the former Woolsey.

The excellent cast includes Anita Louise, Johnny Darrow, Florence Robert and Alfred P. James.

NEW TITLE SELECTED FOR 'LET'S PLAY KING'

"Forbidden Adventure" has been selected as the final title for the pictureization of Sinclair Lewis' new novel, "Let's Play King," Paramount announces.

The story is laid in Hollywood and London and concerns the adventures of a child screen star and a boy king who run away together in an effort to be regular "kids," Norman Tauger, maker of "Skippy," directed. The cast is headed by Mitz Green, Edna May Oliver, Louise Fazenda, Jackie Searl and Bruce Line.

TWO STORIES OF WAR SOON TO BE FILMED

Ernest Hemingway's "A Farewell to Arms" and Helen Z. Smith's "Stepdaughters of War" are two war novels to be filmed this year by the Paramount studios.

"I OFFER YOU

These 5 advantages"—

ECONOMY—Daily transportation between here and Los Angeles at 1.4 cents a mile (Commutation Tickets or Monthly Pass)—a saving, unless you are already a Red Car rider, of over half on daily travel. Parking costs saved also.

NO NERVE STRAIN—Nervous tension and fatigue, toll of modern traffic, eliminated. Your energy saved for business.

USEFUL LEISURE—That hour or so a day now wasted between home and office is salvaged—valuable extra leisure you need, if not for reading, planning or study, then for the rest and relaxation so necessary nowadays.

SAFETY—The unquestioned hazards of present-day traffic are practically eliminated. Records show there exists no safer kind of travel than the Big Red Cars.

CONVENIENCE—Regular schedules carefully arranged to meet your needs.

These are real advantages, as an actual test of the Big Red Cars will show. Don't miss them any longer. Try them for at least ten days. Start tomorrow!

For schedules, fares or any further information, phone your local agent or TUCKER 7272 in Los Angeles.
